Microdegree “Use of technology in contemporary learning”

University of Tartu offers free participation for Georgian, Moldovan and Armenian citizens in Micro degree “Use of technology in contemporary learning”. If you have Bachelor's degree or equivalent qualification, the Microdegree “Use of technology in contemporary learning” offers the possibility to develop your capacity to meaningfully use technology in education. During the micro degree you will also have the opportunity to be part of an international community of educational researchers and practitioners devoted to studying and exploring the role of educational technology in contemporary learning.

The format of the degree is blended, and it will cover one semester. It will start in August with an onsite session with dedicated workshops on Technology Use in Education. It will then continue from September onwards with a number of online courses dedicated to the study of Digital Literacy, New Learning Paradigm and Critical Issues of Technology Use in Education.

The microdegree is specifically designed for those who are working full-time or who would like to develop professionally in the area of educational technology. Also, the credits awarded during the micro degree (17ECTS) can be taken into account in the completion of the master’s programme in Educational Technology (60 ECTS).

You are welcome to join the introductory webinar about the Microdegree on 16th May at 4-5 pm (Estonian time)
